Chattanooga

Public

Library

The Public Library is continuing to provide curbside service and can process a new library card online or through email. Families simply go to the website chattlibrary.org and select “Get a Library Card” from the top right hand corner. Follow the instructions and library staff will assist you in your application process through email.

There are many benefits for a student having a public library card.

- There is unlimited free access to audiobooks through the library’s digital collection: Hoopla, OverDrive, and RB Digital. Students may wish to use these audiobooks during the summer or within the classroom during the school year. The benefits of audiobooks include improvement in pronunciation and fluency, critical listening skills, focus and attention span, memory, critical thinking and comprehension skills.
- The Chattanooga Public Library has a vast collection of eBooks, fiction and nonfiction, for check out, as well as a News Stand for fans of magazines, newspapers, maps and atlases. The library’s research section includes a student favorite: the World Book Encyclopedia.

While on the library’s website, don’t forget to view the “events” section for a special compilation of resources organized for students. Below are a few resources students might enjoy during the summer.
